

Commander's Corner

First, I wish to send out a special Happy Mother's Day to all the great mothers (and some grandmothers) we have in the BDE. I hope you all have a wonderful day!

Brigitte and I would like to thank all the volunteers, soldiers, and family members that helped us celebrate and recognize all outstanding volunteers. The event was well attended and well done. We can never say enough about all the contributions that are made by our wonderful volunteers. Our "silent partners" are great ambassadors for our Brigade and our Army and, without a lot of fanfare or hype, they share the value of selfless service.

The month of May marks the beginning of transitions with several families and soldiers leaving and the beginning of summer safety. The Brigade will conduct 2 days of summer safety briefings and training this week and would ask that our leaders share what we learn with our families. The season continues to be dry and windy, so please carefully check your areas for possible electrical/fire hazards. As temperatures get into the 90-100's, maintain our hydration and make liberal use of sun screen. We want families and soldiers to get out and enjoy the summer activities, but take what we teach in training and ensure we do things with moderation.

Thanks for all you do.

Make a Difference

Ruth a gentile woman was widowed living with her mother-in-law, Naomi and elderly Jewish woman, who was also widowed when she made the following statement.

Ruth 1:16-17..... Intreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: Where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the LORD do so to me, and more also, if ought but death part thee and me.

As Israel remembered the millions that died during the Holocaust yesterday during Yom HaShoah (Holocaust and Heroism Remembrance day), I want to share a touching story about an exceptional woman who assisted 2,500 young Jewish children out of the ghettos during World War II.

Her name was Irene Sendler. She was an employee of the Polish Social Warfare Department who had a special permit to enter the ghettos to check for signs of typhus. During these visits, she would wear a Star of David as a sign of solidarity with the Jewish people. Once inside, she would convince Jewish parents to part with their children as she and others created for them false papers and smuggled them out so to put them in various good homes around Poland. Sendler then buried the children's true identities in jars in her back yard, hoping to reunite them with their families after the war.

In 1943, Irene was arrested by the Gestapo, severely tortured and sentenced to death. She was able to save herself by bribing German guards on the way to her execution. Listed on bulletin boards among those who had been executed, she was left in the woods unconscious, with broken arms and legs. For the remainder of the war, she lived in hiding. Though she had suffered much, she continued her work with Jewish children and after the war she dug up the jars and tried hard to reunite the children with parents. Most parents died in the Polish war camps.

Ruth made difference to Naomi and for her tribute she became a part of the lineage of David and our Lord Jesus Christ. Irene made a difference to 2500 Jewish children. We can make a difference right here right now where we live. Find a need great or small and make it happen. Small things become great things.

May is National Military Appreciation Month

That's right military service members, veterans, spouses, and family members and those who love them, this month is all about letting you know how much you and your service means to our nation. "National Military Appreciation Month" operations where the whole mission is to recognize you and to celebrate our nation's rich military traditions, the diversity of our military community and to reflect with gratitude on your service and the service of those who came before you by understanding the historical relevance

Military Spouse Appreciation Day (May 8th) recognizing the strengths and sacrifices of our military spouses and the challenges they endure and rise above in support of our service members and our country; Armed Forces Day (May 21st) honoring all of our military forces with activities all around the globe wherever our troops may be; and, most importantly, the month culminates in the most significant date of all, Memorial Day (May 30), a day of remembrance for those who sacrificed the most to bless us with the freedoms that we enjoy today. On this special day, we will have ceremonies and tributes, laying of wreaths, bugles, prayers and silence – a moment of remembrance at 3pm - where each American is asked to solemnly and prayerfully reflect on the fallen service members of yesterday and today and their families who have given so much.

FRSA Notes

Welcome to the month of May! A month I can appreciate in so many ways; warmer weather, gardening, Mother's day, the finishing up of the school year and Military Appreciation Month!

Military Spouse Appreciation Day is the Friday before Mother's Day; May 8, 2011. "The first Military Spouse Day was first celebrated in 1984 when then-President Ronald Reagan proclaimed the observance to honor the contributions of military spouses. The military now sets aside the Friday before Mother's Day each year to pay tribute to the spouses who play a vital role in the nation's defense."

GSAS- Battery Commander Spouses Invited

We invite you to attend the Growing Spouses Army Strong (GSAS)! This program was designed specifically for Captains' spouses as you prepare to be part of a battery-level command team. We are certain you will find the course informative, useful and rewarding.

Today's Army asks much of its families in these demanding times and it is our goal to provide you with tools to both sustain you personally and to empower you as leaders. As military spouses, your contributions to the well being of Army families and, ultimately, to the readiness of our all-volunteer force, is invaluable. It is often said that the Army is the strength of the Nation and that our Families are the strength of our Army.

Some of the beneficial classes taught during GSAS include Army Structure, Customs, Courtesies and Protocol and Coming into the Battery. You will also have an opportunity to interact and learn to experienced command/ spouse teams and attend a graduation reception at the Commanding General's beautiful home on post "The Sherman House."

Week 1: Thursday, May 19 & Friday, May 20 and Week 2: Monday, May 23 and Tuesday, May 24.

Please call Lisa Villarreal-Hughes, 483-8248 or email today to reserve your spot. Thank you.

Top Ten Military Family Programs

(Military Officers Association of America – MOAA)

1. Our Military Kids – Their mission is straightforward. Support military kids through enriching activities. Thousands of military children from Guard, Reserve and wounded families have received funds for tutoring, ballet, music, martial arts and so much more thanks to the compassion and business savvy of two women (not from military families) who wanted to make a difference in the lives of the nation's military kids. Mission accomplished!
2. National Military Family Association – With free summer camps for military kids and scholarships for spouses, this organization has led the way in service for military families for more than 40 years. (And they're our long time colleagues within The Military Coalition!)
3. Military Child Education Coalition – checklists on transferring students, navigating children through loss, camp scholarships and professional development for teachers – MCEC is the hub for all things related to milkids and school.
4. F.O.C.U.S. – Families Overcoming Under Stress teaches resiliency training to military families. We love that it's a solution based program with a civilian partnership, co-developed by UCLA Center for Community Health and the National Center for Child Traumatic Stress (NCTSN) and funded by the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery (BUMED) of the U.S. Department of the Navy and the U.S. Marine Corps.
5. Blue Star Families – They're the group behind such programs as Books on Bases, Smiles on Faces; Blue Star Museums, and the 2010 Military Family Lifestyle survey. Launched in 2008 by some seriously hardworking military spouses, Blue Star Families has leveraged social media in a way like no other military organization, and has garnered the attention of the White House many times over.
6. United Through Reading – “Read me a book, daddy.” Your kiddies can still get their bedtime stories through this program which partnered up with the next organization on our list. It's simple: United Through Reading has set up stations for all deploying military units and some USO locations where moms and dads can read books to their kids on DVD. (Pssst. We won't tell if you watch them for a little comfort, too!)
7. USO – Bob Hope. Marilyn Monroe. Toby Keith. You are major star if you've been on a USO tour, but the real celebrities are the ones in uniform, thanks to the 69-year-old United Services Organization. They bring inspiration and a break from the battle field whether you're in an airport or recovering from wounds. Plus, their motto “Until Everyone Comes Home” is one we can all agree on.
8. The Fisher House Foundation – One of only two people to ever receive the designation as an honorary veteran, Zachary Fisher's legacy has provided the comforts of home for the families of our convalescing service members since 1991. The newest homes were opened in Bethesda this month.
9. Zero to Three – Our youngest military kids are affected by stress, unpredictability and lack of bonding, but Zero to Three has empowered military parents of children ages – you guessed it; zero to three years old – to mitigate these stresses with tips grounded in science. And pics of cute babies – well we just can't resist!
10. Wounded Warrior Project – This organization is defined by its vision: To foster the most successful, well-adjusted generation of wounded warriors in this nation's history. WWP has been making a difference in the lives of soldiers, Sailors, airmen, and Marines and their family members since 2003. We give kudos to this great organization for its grassroots efforts.

This month we Say goodbye to CPT Gregory, SFC Sanchez, SFC Costick, and SSG Martinez. We in the Headhunters family wish them well, and look forward to working with them in the future. Additionally, we had a potluck lunch for 1LT McCollum as he leaves and attends (CCC) Captains Career Course. We would like to congratulate SSG Wallace who was selected to the SFC promotion list, SGT Smith, SGT Cabrera and SPC Portillo graduated from WLC where SGT Cabrera was selected to the Commandant's list.

The FRG Easter egg hunt and pizza party was a great success and was enjoyed by all in attendance. This month, we also recognized many of the HHB volunteers for their contributions to the unit. We could not do all that we do without all of our Headhunter volunteers. Additionally, we would like to congratulate Amy Sexton for receiving the Helping Hands Volunteer of the Year award. Lastly, we would like to bid a fond farewell to our FRG leader, Rose McCollum. She will be sorely missed, we thank her for all of her hard work. As we say goodbye to Mrs. McCollum, we welcome with open arms our new FRG leader, Kelly Miller.

Our next FRG meeting will be held on Thursday, May 12th, at 6pm in the RTC auditorium. We are looking forward to meeting more of our proud Headhunters family. If you have any questions or are interested in volunteering, please feel free to contact Kelly Miller at 915-373-3760, or by email at headhunters6x@gmail.com.

1-56 ADA BN “Night Hides Not!”

Commander: LTC John Wanat

Acting CSM: MSG Diana Morris

FRG Leader: Michelle Niedert michtj2000@yahoo.com

Greetings again to all friends and families of 1-56 ADA!! The Family Readiness Group is the heart of a unit! April was the month of the military child so a very important and special month for Soldiers and their families. The Battalion continues to settle into its new two battery configuration, but as expected there will continue to be minor growing pains. The month of April, aside from being the month of the military child, was Leader development month for both cadre and students alike in 1-56. Cadre, as part of the Army campaign on professionalism, began 20 hours of professional ethics training with the brigade Ethics trainer and 1-56 Chaplain Major Randy Thomas. Additionally Cadre and student officers alike benefitted from Air Defense School Assistant Commandant Colonel McCant's 28 years of experience. The Fort Sill Modern Army Combatives Program (MACP) Tournament tested a number of our young leaders on the “fields of friendly strife.”

Cadre members looked on as MAJ Randy Thomas presented ethical questions

The Warrior Ethos was alive and well as cadre and students participated in the FCOE Annual MACP tournament. Congrats again to all 1-56 Competitors in the FCOE MACP Tournament! Just like last year, the smallest battalion in FCOE responded with four Soldiers placing in the tournament. Flyweights - 2nd CPT Amanda Rowse; Middleweights - 2nd CPT Erik Deneau; Heavyweights - 3rd 2LT Richard Erickson, 4th CPT Adrian Liptrot students and cadre enjoyed time with the Assistant Commandant COL McCants as he shared tips for success and lessons learned that have spanned his 28 years as an Air Defender.

ADA VOLUNTEER DAYS BY 2LT DEAN

Throughout the month of April, 1-56th have been volunteering at the ADA Museum to help them get ready for their Opening Ceremonies in mid-May. So far, Soldiers from HQ/A have volunteered on three different occasions with two days in the upcoming weeks. 1-56th Soldiers have helped move, clean, and deploy various air defense artillery weapons.

The first weapon 1-56th Soldiers helped to move, clean, and deploy was the enormous 90mm M1A1. The weapon is from the 1940's and is impressive to stand underneath. The first mission of the day was to open up the weapon and make certain everything was still functioning. The hydraulics had not been used in decades. To lower the massive legs, four Soldiers were needed on each side to slowly unfold and gently lower down. Once the legs were open and securely supporting the frame, it was time to move the gun around. The barrel is intimidating yet still, after all these decades, able to smoothly move about.

Soldiers have also been helping to clean other air defense weapons from decades past, as well as, aiding in the transformation of buildings 1505 and 1506 from simple warehouses to a living history of the Army's Air Defense Artillery. Night Hides Not!

FAREWELL TO SSG MENDOZA BY SPC CASTILLO

SSG Mendoza (pictured above) has dedicated three and a half years to the 1-56 BN, 6th ADA BDE family. She started off her duty assignment at Fort Bliss in El Paso, TX as the HQ 1-56 ADA Battery Supply Sgt. She arrived there in November of 2007 and fulfilled the position in a profoundly professional manner. In the fall of 2009, she helped with the breakdown of all the BTRY's in 1-56 to execute the movement of units to Fort Sill, OK. The Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) movement was a very challenging experience that she took on with great leadership skills and high confidence. She then arrived here at Fort Sill in March of 2010 and took on the position as the HQ/A 1-56 ADA Battery Supply Sgt. SSG Mendoza is now moving on to bigger and better things in Fort Irwin, CA. She will be there to continue her career with the 11 ARC Replacement. Night Hides Not!

To close the month, 1-56 coffee group gathered for lunch at Billy Simm's Restaurant off of Northwest Cache Road. Pictures below.

The Feild family (Patrick and would like to extend a “thank you” to everyone for their prayers and assistance while young Ian Field (shown above), recovered from early complications.

Special Welcomes go out to new families CPT McGriff and CPT Trahan. CPT McGriff is in-line for command while CPT Trahan is slated to become a BOLC instructor.

Happy Easter from the Air Defense Artillery School’s Officer Education Battalion! Get involved! Our Family Readiness Group is in need of volunteers! We are also looking for CARE team volunteers! CARE Team members of the FRG offer emotional support and practical assistance to Family members going through difficult situations (i.e. unexpected surgery, injury, illness, etc.) Remember, all volunteers must be registered in Volunteer Management Information System (VMIS). The volunteer hours tracked allows the Army to reward, inform and strengthen our military community! Please contact CPT Amanda Rowse HQ/A Battery Commander bldg. 1614 for details. Registration takes less than 10 minutes!

If you want to get involved with the FRG please contact Mrs. Michelle Niedert @ michtj2000@yahoo.com or 580-492-5575. You can also contact MAJ Irvin R. Hawkins@ irvin.hawkins@us.army.mil or call 580-558-0571.

2-6 ADA BN- "Set the Standard"

On 1 April 2-6 ADA hosted the Special Olympics for the second year and would like to thank all our volunteers and participants for making it a huge success. This event continued to provide quality community engagement for our partnership with the City of Lawton and created a bond with our Soldiers through embracing the opportunity to help others with special needs. We have been specifically requested to continue this rich tradition and host again next year.

Congratulations to our volunteer Patricia Pendon for receiving the 6th BDE Volunteer Spouse of the Year and for being recognized at the Helping Hands Volunteer Ceremony. Along with great successes, B Battery had opened the Engagement Simulations Trainer (EST 2000) to family members and had a terrific FRG event that provided an chance to understand and experience how our Soldiers train.

A/3 Battery at Dugway Proving Ground executed a tremendous "hot dog and chips" fund raiser during our visit this month. In all, they raised over $200.00 which will go toward funding their Holiday Party at the end of the year. Families are very resilient at DPG with a strong FRG fostered by the Battery Command Team.

With the warm weather, in the upcoming months we will be having more family activities. In May, there will be a Hail and Farewell to welcome our new members to the "Set the Standard" family and to farewell those departing us. June will be our bi-annual Potluck at the Spray Park to commemorate the beginning of summer and in July, will be planning to host a Golf Tournament and a C-RAM live Fire observation for our families.

We sincerely appreciate everyone's support!

LTC Brian W. Adams and CSM Robert D. Gooden

We extend a warm welcome to CPT Maurice Dominguez as he takes the reigns as the new Bravo Battery Commander. He says that he is "honored to be part of the Bulldog family and is looking forward to getting to know all the Bravo Battery Soldiers and their families."

Which bucket are you, filler or dipper?

No doubt you have heard the term "My cup is overflowing" This is the story of the invisible bucket (which is really you) the bucket is each one of us whether we know it or not.

It determines how we feel about ourselves, families, coworkers and other people. Have you ever felt so good inside that it made you want to do good things for everyone around you, at any time in your life? Well, at that time your bucket was full and overflowing.

Your bucket can be filled by a lot of things that happen to you:

-Someone speaks to you and says "Good Morning" (your bucket is filled a little)

-If someone pays you a compliment (your bucket is filled even more)

-If you say hi mommy! That is a very pretty dress you have on (You are filling her bucket)

-Something very special to you is remembered by others (more filling of your bucket)

-If you say "daddy, thank you for your service to our country, I love you very much" (you are filling his bucket)

-Someone taking the time to listen to what's on your mind (extra scoops are added to your bucket)

When your bucket is full of all this emotional and spiritual support it is soooooo much easier to express warmth and kindness to others. But hold on, what about the dipper? Other people have dippers and they get these dippers in your bucket (there are no less than a million ways for them to get in your bucket)

Lets say that you are running a little late, but decide to stop really quick at the local star bucks for a cup of coffee. As you are in a hurry, you accidently spill your coffee on a lady coming in the door (Oops!) how embarrassing. You made a mistake, you know you made a mistake and then she lets you have it with both barrels (Or should I say, she is dipping away at your bucket). This is just one of the millions of ways a dipper can dip into your bucket.

Buckets are filled and buckets are emptied, and emptied because people don't really think about what is being said or done, so they dip away. We are all human beings and when our bucket are full, emptied or in between it shows.

Being armed with this knowledge will change the way you look at customers, family and friends, because now you know that someone has been dipping in their bucket...

Now! you are armed with some very TOP SECRET information that will forever change the way you look at a dipper (Guard your bucket). And don't forget the folks that just have holes all in their buckets, and have a problem holding it in (here is what you can do), you can start pouring from your bucket into their bucket to help keep them afloat... (I know, I know; why should I give from my bucket? I need it myself..) No you don't, because when you give from your bucket you are given double or more in your own bucket (Read that again please). I have been practising this for years and it's all true (No matter how much I give from my bucket, I always find a lot more (Wow!) why is that? You will have to wait until next week for the answer.

Have a super week,

If you have stories, events or things you want to share with others, please let me know.

OPSEC – Operational Security

With technology and social networking today it is easier than ever to get information about you, your family, your job, interests, etc. and to have people, without your knowledge, reading and collecting your information. It is important, whether you are experiencing a deployment, training, moves or military life in general that you don't post information that could compromise the safety of you or your loved ones.

'Do NOT' TIPS:

- * Do not post on internet, share with others or write about any and all operational information
- * Do not provide people with the time, place or name of the operation
- * Do not share specific locations of where your service member is
- * Do not provide information about spouses, email, Facebook accounts or full names to anyone outside of your group (they may want them for kind or valid reasons but then they may, unknowingly, provide them to others and so on)
- * Do not identify rank or full names of service members

The general rule is, 'If you aren't sure, don't post it'. For more information go to - <http://loveoursoldiers.us> -they have posted a great article with detailed information about OPSEC (the rules are generally the same for all countries)
